Thanks! Yes, Monday the 25th is actually the only day I'll be in next week. The short answer, I think, is that I expect institutional controls will prevent fishing from the site, and we have no authority to regulate fishing from areas surrounding the site. Regardless of the site clean-up level, it will take years for the fish concentrations to decrease, because as we know, this is a watershed-wide problem. The fishing advisories are still the best tool to protect folks from fishing issues in the area.

Thanks Phil – yes, the slide is for the Ron brief (& pre-brief with Charles too) next week on 11/25 – will you be in then? I'm attaching the Vince Ryan letter – he raised the risk issue (level of cleanup), so slide should include some response to that for Ron.

Will call you today @ 1:00.

Haven't heard anything from HQ yet – I think I will call this morning & check with Christine.
